TECHNO-FAIR

If you're good at something, NEVER do it for free. The SVCE ACM Student Chapter brings you a fun-filled event where you can put to use all those skills you never thought you'd use!

An event with mini events where you use your skill to bag some points?

Points you can trade for cool stuff?

At an auction?

Sounds good?

Head over to INTERRUPT's bidding event: The Techno-Fair.

And don't worry if you can't code, you won't need to! It's non-technical!

Rules:

1. You will be given points at the starting of the event.
2. You can use these points to enter into the mini-events available. If you win the event, you will gain more points.
3. At the end of the event, there will be an auction where you can bid on prizes.
4. You can leave in-between to participate in other events.
5. Lose your coins, lose your points.
6. Organizers have the final say in all decisions made.
